- Temporary offer: Users who move transshipment containers equal to or greater than 800 weekly average containers, over a period of one year, will be granted a discount on the standard container transshipment service tariff and an extension of free days, as follows:

(i) > 800 average containers per week = They will be charged a standard service tariff of USD 90 for 20-foot transshipment containers (subsection 1.1.2.7 of the Tariff List) and a tariff of USD 120 for standard service 40-foot transshipment containers (subsection 1.1.2.8 of the Tariff List). It includes for both sizes of containers (20 and 40 feet) the granting of 14 free days (which represents 12 additional free days to the 48 free hours currently granted).

(ii) It includes for both container sizes (20 and 40 feet) the granting of 14 free days (which represents 12 days off in addition to the 48 hours off currently granted). APMTIC may extend, but subject to space availability, to 21 days free of use of the operational area.

(iii) Likewise, users who comply with the weekly average movement of 800 containers, during an annual period, will be exempted from the payment of the container status change surcharge.

- Effective: The offer may be requested from November 15, 2023 to January 31, 2024, and from January 3, 2025, to March 31, 2025.

- Requirements:

The average weekly volume will be counted and calculated within the annual period agreed between APMTIC and the user, for example and as a hypothetical case; if the user's request for offer is accepted and it is agreed that the accounting will start on December 1, 2023, then the accounting will be carried out until November 30, 2024. All types of transshipment (full cycle or inter-terminal) shall be accounted. Accounting is per container; for example, during this annual period the user could move a weekly average of 750 full cycle containers and 50 inter-terminal containers, which add up to a weekly average of 800 containers (which results in a weekly average of 1,550 movements; 1,500 full cycle movements and 50 inter-terminal movements). The average weekly count is calculated by taking into account the total number of transshipment containers moved during this annual period and is divided by the number of weeks in that period (which is 52 weeks). For this purpose, users should submit to the APMTIC commercial area the projections of transshipment containers that they will be mobilized during the annual period indicated above, in order to determine the availability of terminal space. In the event that, after twelve (12) months of accounting, it is verified that the minimum volume required for the application of this offer has not been reached, APMTIC will charge the standard container service tariff (Subsections 1.1.2.7 and 1.1.2.8 of the Tariff List) in force at the time of verification and the additional days used after the mandatory 48 free hours offered by the standard transshipment container service and/or the offer will be cancelled.

APMTIC will carry out a review every three (03) months of the weekly average of the transshipment containers mobilized by the user who requested the offer; if it is verified, during the review, that the user has not complied with the required weekly average, then APMTIC may cancel the offer.

The details of the discounts and benefits of this offer are as follows:

(i) Change of an initial offer tariff of USD 90 for standard 20-foot transshipment container service (Section 1.1.2.7 of the Tariff List) and USD 120 for standard 40-foot transshipment container service (Section 1.1.2.8 of the Tariff List).

(ii) Additional discount of USD 35 per container on the offer tariffs described in item i), but which may be given for a maximum of 17,715 containers in each quarter during the annual period of the offer. This additional discount, which will be applied for a period of one year, will be for one time only; that is, it will not apply in case of renewal of this offer.

(iii) Granting of 14 free days of use of the operational area (which represents 12 additional free days to the 48 free hours currently granted) for both container sizes (20 and 40 feet).

(iv) Granting of a free pool of 300 TEU's (use of operational area of 300 TEU's of transshipment without time limit). This free pool is granted to those containers that have exceeded the 14 days of use of the operational area.

(v) Exemption from payment of container status change surcharge.

- Effective: The offer may be requested from April 11, 2023 to December 31, 2023

- Requirements:

The average weekly volume will be counted and calculated within the annual period agreed by APMTIC and the user, which may be the earliest date to start counting on April 1, 2023 (for example and as a hypothetical case; if the user's request for offer is accepted and it is agreed that the accounting will start on 1 April 2023, then the accounting will be carried out until March 31, 2024. As a second hypothetical example, if the user's offer request is accepted and it is agreed to start accounting on 1 June 2023, then accounting will be done until 31 May 2024). All types of transshipment (full cycle or inter-terminal) shall be accounted. Accounting is per container; for example, during this annual period the user could move a weekly average of 1,7715 transshipment containers, which add up to a weekly average of 1,800 containers (which results in a weekly average of 3,500 movements; 3,400 full cycle movements and 100 inter-terminal movements). The average weekly count is calculated by taking into account the total number of transshipment containers moved during this annual period and is divided by the number of weeks in that period (which is 52 weeks). For this purpose, users should submit to the APMTIC commercial area the projections of transshipment containers that they will be mobilized during the annual period indicated above, in order to determine the availability of terminal space.

APMTIC will carry out a review every three (03) months of the weekly average of the transshipment containers mobilized by the user requesting the offer; if it is verified, during the review, that the user has not met the required weekly average, then APMTIC may cancel the offer.

This quarterly discount, which will apply to a maximum of 17,715 containers, will be granted in the form of a credit note or another modality agreed upon by the shipping line and APMTIC.

In case of containers that exceed the 14 days free of use of the operating area and the free pool of 300 TEU, the user will have to assume the payment of the tariff applicable from the 15th day onwards (subsections 1.2.6.4 and 1.2.7.4 of the Tariff List). However, if the user mobilizes more than 1,800 containers per week on average, APMTIC may extend, subject to space availability, the days of use of the operational area for those containers that remain more than 14 days and cannot access the free pool. The extension days would be up to seven days at most. If APMTIC grants this benefit to a user, it will be applied to other users under similar conditions.

- This offer will be subject to space availability confirmed by APMTC

As a second hypothetical example, if the user's offer request is accepted and it is agreed to start accounting on February 01, 2024, then accounting will be done until April 30, 2026). All types of transhipment (full cycle or inter-terminal) shall be accounted. Accounting is per container; for example, during the accounting period the user could move a weekly average of 1,200 full cycle containers and 100 inter-terminal containers, which add up to a weekly average of 1,300 containers (which results in a weekly average of 2,300 movements: 2,400 full cycle movements and 100 inter-terminal movements). The average weekly count is calculated by taking into account the total number of transhipment containers moved during the count period and divided by the number of weeks in that period (which is 117 weeks).
